DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 4, 11, 12 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yoakim et al.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

There is disclosed in Yoakim a beverage brewing device, comprising: an extraction device, including means 18, 35 for providing a fluid and means 3, 4 for holding a capsule, the holding means including a recess 19; and first and second capsules 40, the capsules including a first and second beverage dispensing structure (varied amount of compacted beverage product within each capsule) to retain a first and second extraction pressure in the capsule.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 4-8, 10-12 and 15-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fond.

There is disclosed in Fond a beverage brewing device, comprising: an extraction device, including means 20 for providing a fluid and means 21, 24, 11 for holding a capsule, the holding means including a recess; and first (fig. 1) and second (fig. 3) capsules, the capsules including a first (membrane 4) and second (membrane 4a, 4b) beverage dispensing structure to retain a first and second extraction pressure in the capsule, each membrane being associated with a puncturing plate 51 having a plurality of puncturing elements and a filtering device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fond in view of Yoakim et al.

In regards to the number of capsules associated with the brewing system, such is an obvious matter of design choice to one skilled in the art, since amount of production is a user determined factor. One skilled in the art would provide more capsules if a larger production amount of beverage were anticipated with use of the device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 22 and 23 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 21 April 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the Yoakim reference fails to disclose delivering different beverages having different foam levels.

It is apparent that the varied sized capsules and amount of material in each capsule would effect the extraction pressure and foam production for each capsule during the production of a beverage. Thus, varied foam levels are capable during production of the beverage.

Applicant argues that Yoakim fails to disclose or suggest first and second capsules having first and second beverage dispensing structure so constructed and arranged to retain a first and second extraction pressure.

As mentioned in the rejection above, Yoakim discloses varied sized capsules and varied amount of beverage product within each sized capsule, this structure and arrangement is what allows for first and second extraction pressures.

The same can be said about the Fond reference and its ability to provide first and second extraction pressures.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Schaeffer et al. and Hu et al. are cited for their disclosure of the state of the art.
